TUESDAY EVENING, JULY 12.

APPEAL TO MOTHERS -If you are ever to accomplish something in life it is because you are accomplishing something now. So many women say, "After my house and grounds are in perfect order, after we have become rich, after I have secured perfect health, then I intend to give more time to my husband and children. to society and philanthropy, and life rounds itself into an inglorious aftermath. It is as suicidal to postpone happiness and usefulness as it cidal to postpone happiness and usefulness as it is for a mother to leave her obliders to a purse all their early years and expect to win their deepest love afterward. The present days, the present hours, are rich with glorious opportunity for women to render royal service to the home, the State and nation. There is "blessed work to be done, blessed work, with blessed wages," and is in its life to the present of advention of experiments. it is pitiful to see women of education, of experience, women who believe in immortality, bending all their energies to hopping excursions and the matching of ribbons, and saying to all the vest interests that vitally affect the hap piness of millions, "Bide your time, wait. I know children are starving and the hearts of women are breaking, fathers and mothers wail in agony over dishonored sons and daughters, red handed crime and slander endanger alike the innocent and guitty. The world needs help number me among the helpers. I will go to work soon, but then, you know, I have not de-cided upon the shape and thade of my fall bonnet,"-Mrs. Harbert in Inter Ocean.
